[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 15

The River Situation

The Illustration being what mistakes Democratic statesmen sometimes make in the heat of political contests when at best their interests to make capital During the winter the strongest argument urged in favor of keeping the Democratic party in power was that it had relieved us of the burdens rapidly and fearlessly and [illegible] ers while financiers who [illegible] Haight declared that the debt had been reduced [illegible] dollars during his term and the Controller of State published certificates to the same effect Governor Haight's last message he had found the debt [illegible] coming into office four years ago to be $ [illegible] 8 A careful investigation into the condition of the debt by Gov Booth shows the debt to have been at the close of Haight's term of office $4 414 305 The actual reduction therefore for the four years of Democratic management was just $1, 040 86. 70, or about one half the amount claimed with such loud and fraudulent [illegible] by the opponents of the Republican party This will not be so wonderful if it were simply the exposure of a partisan misrepresentation But the explanation of it looks very bad for the Democratic party Two millions is about the amount of reduction which should have been made with proper management by Haight's administration There were too many hungry partisan friends to be fed however and now it seems out that the appropriations for the State capitol, Governor's mansion and State normal school building have been largely over drawn The capitol fund is overdrawn $168 341, 40 more than was reported by Gov Haight The normal school building fund has been overdrawn $101 18 35, and there are large deficits in the penitentiary insane asylum and military funds It seems that during the canvass the Board of State Capitol Commissioners discovered that it was very important that the work should be hastened with redoubled vigor in order to get the building in condition to have it occupied by the Legislature They appear to have forgotten that the building was good enough to be occupied by the last Legislature They did not forget, however, to supply men who would vote the Democratic ticket, and so important a qualification did they regard this item that those who had the effrontery to vote contrary to their wishes were immediately discharged The whole thing is so ugly and discreditable that Haight had not the courage to offer an explanation or even to make a correct statement of the financial result

[AN AND OUT OF DOWER

A comparison of the journals of the Legislature of two years ago with the one now in session [illegible] in the character of Democracy in power and Democracy out of power At the last session that party had an overwhelming majority in both houses Useless offices were created by the score to reward political friends and partisan measures were put through without scruple It was a common thing to hear prominent members arise and remind the minority that a great change had taken place in the minds of the people whereby the principles of the Republican party had been condemned, and the said Republican party had been forever and ever buried out of sight This State was then as Oregon is now, "Democratic in all its departments" It is quite amusing to notice the difference now All the State officers elected last autumn are Republicans The Republicans have almost as large a majority in the Assembly as the Democrats had then, and of the new members of the Senate two thirds are Republican The consequence is that a Democratic member of the Legislature is a very tame animal He roars you as gently as a sucking dove We hear no more about the people having condemned the doctrine of nigger suffrage and partisan bills came not rife from prolific brains The Senate, through the large number holding over, is Democratic by a scratch, and the people having spoken out so forcibly against the extravagance of the last session it is endeavoring to make a good record Now a set of strife or rather emulation has sprung up between the two bodies in regard to economizing Various reforms have been inaugurated to stop big leaks from small bung holes For instance eighteen copying clerks were employed by the last Senate at a per diem of $5, to do work which two industrious copyists could easily have done There were so many of them that they actually failed to do the work on the principle I suppose that what is everybody's business is nobody's business At any rate, most of the copying had to be let out on contract at the close of the session This year only two were employed for the first half of the session and not more than twice that number will be engaged during the remaining half

[MPROVEMENT IN THE CHARACTER OF LEGISLATORS

There is a marked improvement in the kind of men sent up to the Capital this session They indulge in few drunks liquors are not kept in the offices of the sergeants at arms, as at the last session, more attention is given to business members seem to know more about what is wanted in the way of legislation, and are not surrounded by such a rough looking set of lobbyists Yet there seems to be abundant room for improvement Californians are proverbially extravagant in the use of money, who her private or public and considering this fact the improvements made by this Legislature are very great It will reduce many years for the State to fall into the habit of managing public affairs with the same economy and honesty that a prudent business man would conduct his private affairs There are too many offices, State county and city most of their incumbents are paid too much for the services they render; contracts are let without due regard to cost and things generally have been allowed to go at loose ends If California had not been a noble country and its people liberal and public spirited almost beyond precedent in the payment of taxes the State would be in a bad condition to day The State debt is more than four millions and the aggregate of the debts of the several counties is reported by the Controller to be $8 177 98[illegible] In several counties the rate of tax is above three per cent, and in Calaveras it is nearly five per cent [illegible] $1 [illegible] on the $100 This county is in debt $ [illegible] with an assessable property of [illegible] 9 87 0 This debt is chiefly the result of defalcations and stealings by county officials [illegible] the old times before the war when the Democratic party—that party of such precious memory was in control

A NEW COURSE AT CORNELL The faculty of Cornell University has established a new course to be known as the Course in Letters It will lead to the degree of Bachelor of Letters, or with a slight variation to Bachelor of Philosophy It extends over four years instead of five as previously announced A predominance will be given to the studies of social and [illegible] science with a fair proportion of literature and three years uninterrupted study of history One year of Latin will be required and French Italian, German, and Spanish will all be favored The choice of the faculty in this is to prepare a course of training for [illegible] and literary men To these chosen [illegible] journalism the advantages of [illegible] the mechanical part of the profession will be given by the university printing office and while it will not of course [illegible] of the degree it will be [illegible] the time [illegible] with [illegible] off [illegible] ately [illegible]

DOSE HELLISH [illegible] total depravity [illegible] man has a [illegible] change free lunch a good deal like drinking [illegible] shilling gin for a beverage Beverage is a Chinese word and means dissidence The first fruit of the lover that we have envy ask out of was the devil

The London Times complains that the American cable has been translated into continental languages and scattered broadcast over Europe If the intention is to make retraction impossible no mode could have been chosen which would prove more effective Our expectation of a successful issue continues the Times is extremely moderate We do not give up all hope but a misunderstanding once being established, there can be no sequel other than the abandonment of all reference of claims to the Board of Arbitration

It still seems impossible for Democrats to give up their opposition to the constitutional amendments A few days ago in Congress, a resolution was reported, declaring that the highest patriotism and most enlightened public policy demanded of all political parties and of all citizens acquiescence in the thirteenth fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution and such reasonable legislation of Congress as may be necessary to make them, in their letter and spirit the most effectual The resolution was carried—120 yeas to [illegible] nays most of the Democrats present voting in the negative

A LIVELY RACE SPECTACLE An English traveler writing many years ago describes as follows a spectacle called the direction which he says he performed in Lambeth, Germany in 1783

Young priests had the wings of geese tied on their shoulders to personate wings Adam appeared on the scene in a big curled wig and a brocade morning gown Among the animals that passed before him to receive their names was a well shod horse, pigs with rings in their noses and a mastiff with a brass collar A cocoanut bone had been provided for the formation of Eve, but the mastiff spied it out grabbed it and carried it off The angels tried to whistle him back but not succeeding they chased him, gave him a beating and recovered the bone which they placed under a trap door by the side of the sleeping Adam where there soon emerged a lanky priest, in a loose robe to personate Eve

Do you mean to live without it? That is you would wish to die half a man, at the very best but half a man Without trying to get out of your own strength Man is not born to swim on a table He must go into deep water and battle the surges

The snow covers the ground around Idaho City to the depth of at least four feet, while at the other camps of the Boise Basin it will exceed five feet in depth. Miners can have no excuse to complain either as to quantity or quality of rain now on the ground, and the only thing that can prevent a prosperous mining season this year, will be a late breaking up of winter.

Protection and Prices

The Herald cannot conceive it possible that a protective tariff can in any case cheapen the prices of the articles protected The very object of a protective tariff is to enhance the price of the foreign commodity so that the domestic manufacturer may be able to sell his wares at an enhanced price and make a profit Hence the argument is that consumers are obliged in all cases to pay a greater price for goods under the protective system and that the home manufacturer is the only person benefitted and he is benefitted because he enjoys a monopoly

This statement of the case leaves wholly out of view one of the most obvious facts in political economy That fact is that whenever a department of manufacturing or other industry has become firmly established in our country whether by protection or otherwise so that its endurance and expansion are virtually assured domestic competition will graduate the price of its product and the profit of producers to the average standards afforded by other and kindred pursuits To illustrate, take iron and its products The Herald thinks that the price of pig iron of iron and steel rails, and of other forms of manufactured iron are greatly increased to the consumer by a protective tariff that domestic manufacturers are making an immense profit that they have a monopoly and are oppressing the country For answer to this supposition it were now true that our iron masters are making money too fast —what prevents others from going into the business and increasing the product till the price comes down to the lowest figure at which iron in its various forms can be produced at a reasonable profit? Can iron or any other product be made to defy the law of gravitation? If its manufacture were so enormously profitable, more and more capital would rapidly be invested in it, and we dare say that even our free traders are not so averse to money making that they would refuse such an opportunity for gain This common sense view of the case at once refutes the idea that a 'monopoly is possible, and teaches that home competition under a protective tariff will gradually but certainly, cheapen the article protected If otherwise, we may be certain that self interest is no longer a motive to influence human conduct

But, asks the Herald, if this result follows protection if our manufacturers can send their products into the market at as cheap a rate as the foreign article, why have they wanted a protective tariff and what use is such a tariff to the country? An answer, and a complete one, is not far to seek Protection is needed to assure the American market to American products, and to give it steadiness Take iron again It is argued that since some foreign iron is now sold in this country after paying duty, our entire future supply might be obtained at the same rates, less the duty, if that duty were abolished Nothing could be more fallacious If we should call on Europe for our entire supply of iron, the prices now charged for it would soon go up enormously If our tariff were abolished our British rivals would first crush our manufacturers by underselling them, and having then obtained control of the market, would put up the prices to make up their losses Having broken down competition here, they could easily do this Our market would be subject entirely to the caprices of foreign manufacturers and jobbers and we should utterly lose our industrial and commercial independence Hence so long as labor remains relatively dear in this country and cheap in Europe, our manufacturers would be unable, in the absence of protection, to recover their position, and a further consequence would be that labor could obtain no employment, and general stagnation would ensue If it seems anomalous that American goods could be sold lower under a protective tariff than under free trade, the answer is, that under the first named condition the market is generally uniform, with a steady demand, while under the latter it is doubtful, capricious, and controlled by foreign influences

Our tariffs now are generally higher than they were in 1860. Yet a tabular exhibit of prices at which leading descriptions of woolen fabrics were sold respectively in 1860 (when we had free wool and low duties on woollens) and in 1870 (under high protective duties on both wool and woolens,) shows that, if the currency of 1870 be reduced to gold, their fabrics were quite as cheap in the average in that year under protection as they were ten years earlier under free trade This exhibit is furnished by A. T Stewart of New York, a leading importer and free trader, and it proves that under protection, with a steady market assured, domestic competition in the leading branches of manufacture may be relied on to keep the prices of commodities down to the minimum at which they can be produced, with a fair profit to capital and labor

After all, there is no proof like experience In abstract discussion there must always be a wide difference of opinion But the experience of facts is a test which none can afford to dispute or ignore And experience has abundantly shown the American people that the greatest general prosperity which they have ever known has been enjoyed in periods when protection to American industry and capital was the rule and that periods of general depression business stagnation and misfortune both to capital and labor have always followed the nearest approximations to the practice of free trade During the last ten years in spite of the terrible losses of the war there has been more prosperity among the people than was ever before known and the industrial development of the country has exceeded that of any former period During the same time there has been more complete protection for our industries than was ever known before There has been no period of equal length in the history of the country during which its capital and industry have enjoyed such uninterrupted protection and encouragement and there has been none in which there was so much prosperity Does so great a fact present nothing of significance?

The bond of Geo A Edes, Collector of Customs for the District of Alaska has been approved and his commission issued He has been instructed by telegraph to proceed to Sitka as early as law as possible and enter upon his duties He will therefore depart by next steamer

Papers throughout Canada contain articles on the Alabama treaty Their general tone is moderate although the American terms are considered inadmissable No serious difficulty is apprehended

Population and Wealth

The Philadelphia North American has a leading article entitled "The Metropolitan Belt" It says the three States of New York Pennsylvania and New Jersey as the great seat of American civilization The N Y Tribune says that they show a higher average of material wealth than can be found elsewhere on the continent greater density of population and more industry and trade The Boston Liberator a provincial pride is touched by this boasting, and it insists that the seat of civilization ought to be enlarged a little The Tribune however proceeds to show that the three States named by the Philadelphia paper have an aggregate area of 11110 square miles and a population of 8811 to a square mile while the three southern States of New England have an area of 3 boo miles and a population of 2 02 108 —an average of one hundred and sixty four to the square mile The assessed value of the wealth of the three States in the metropolitan district returned to the census bureau last year was $3 714 490 3 9 of the three States in New England $1 867 021 303 an average for the whole of $842 and for the three New England States of $829 to each person Now England is clearly ahead

Oregon is in great need of manufacturing establishments Industries like these are like many sorts of plants largely dependent upon the atmosphere that surrounds them Hence we are not able to perceive the wisdom of asserting as some of our papers do that manufacturers are monopolists and robbers of the people for it is not a difficult probable that men about to invest their capital in manufacturing industries will seek places where they have the sympathies and good wishes of the community instead of going among those who stigmatize them as robbers and despoilers of the public Certainly there is a considerable portion of the press of Oregon that does the State in this respect no good

The Democratic press has uttered the contemptible insinuation that because Mr E N Cooke, late State Treasurer, is going to build a handsome dwelling he must have stolen the money which he proposes to invest in it from the State during his eight years term of office Now what if we should retort that the present Treasurer, Mr Fleischner who has been in office less than two years, has already since his term began built one of the most magnificent residences in the State and therefore that the State Treasury must have suffered? But faugh! This sort of thing is detestable to decent people, and we speak of Mr Fleischner in such a way simply to hold up a mirror for defamatory Democratic newspapers to see themselves in.

Brooks of New York a few days ago reported in Congress a resolution recognizing the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments as valid parts of the Constitution On this direct issue twenty two Democratic Congressmen voted in the negative Had they dared to do so all of them would have voted likewise We have yet to hear of the first Democrat who openly accepts those amendments and who does not hope and wait for an opportunity to strike them down

The Oakland (Cal.) News calls the California Immigrant Association a begging fraud and says the institution is bamming the Legislature for $30 000 to encourage immigration that is to misrepresent the actual condition of things here and swindle immigrants into coming here to become the peons and tenants at will of scoundrelly land grabbers" If all this is true, California must be a nice and attractive State for immigrants

DR A M LORYEA & Co —For a long time I have been afflicted with Rheumatism in my hands and feet the pains most of the time being very severe On the 4th of July I procured some of your UNK WEED REMEDY and after taking only three bottles found that I am quite restored to health and strength I have had the Rheumatism for eleven 11 years and I think that the success of the Unk weed as a disease of so long standing in so short a time is very remarkable

As a tonic and appetizer I have never found anything equal to the UNK WEED REMEDY During the time I was taking it I gained fifteen (15) pounds in weight Trusting that this certificate may be useful in inducing others affected as I was to try the UNK

"THE DIFFERENCE"—This is what the Oregonian says about it "The Oregonian [two days ago] published a brief extract from a letter of I Friedlander, of San Francisco in relation to the commerce of Oregon the Columbia River Bar, etc., while we yesterday published the entire letter It will be seen that on closer examination we have slightly got the better of our neighbor" And this is what we say to-day, we publish the "whole" letter, and Mr Friedlander's letter, then the matter stands 'will be just a stand off between us' that's all that's what we say" Taste, at last, settles all things even"

THE FRIENDS THAT MOURN —We have a few mourners in the positively latest absence list, a number about three hundred and fifty strong Among them are W W Spaulding, A Holbrook, and W D Hare of Washington Co who lose the sum of $1 500 and the other two hundred and twenty two mourn for sums of various denominations It is the largest train of absentees that we ever knew to follow a departure though creditors are proverbially sticklers for

PORTLAND LIBRARY —The following additions have been made to the Portland Library Shakespeare's Works, edited with a revision of the text

The New Testament, for English Readers containing the authorized version, with corrections of readings and renderings references and a critical and explanatory, by Henry Alford, D D, Dean of Canterbury, 4 vols

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Tilton informs us that orders have been received from head quarters, at New York the road through and have it in working from Kalama to Olympia by the 1st of September next. The working force has been increased, and it now numbers nearly a hundred men

RAILROAD TROUBLES —Since the late storm began, the O S N Co has been having trouble to keep their Cascades railroad clean. The high bank on the upper side of the cut, is what's the matter— The snow is rendered the earth friable, and since the storm commenced the dirt slides frequently

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON RAILROAD —Mr Hooker, general superintendent of the company is in town, and reports the road stocked from Eagle to Red Bluff The R R Co have about 500 men at work on the road their side of Red Bluff, and the road for several miles this side

JUST THE SAME HERE —The Salem Mercury says "Valentines were flying about here numerously yesterday as the day before yesterday they were here, but the day before was a good day for valentines The fact is that yesterday was pretty near a dead failure this year

AN OMISSION —At the special session of the Council yesterday the Council appropriated $200 for the Portland Library, but not a word was said about $264 40 for lighting the town The Fathers forgot it They however put down the big "bong" items

REMOVAL NOTICE.

On Thursday the 29th inst we will be prepared to show our friends and customers our new stock on the south east corner of Front and Stark streets.

MR CARDINELL'S EXHIBITION —The exhibition at the rink on Thursday night was a grand success for Mr Cardinell the manager and a very gratifying spectacle for the audience The Professor put the pupils through a number of minute but beautiful exercises and their performances elicited universal admiration and praise The pupils performed among others the Military quadrill, the Lancers the Sicilian Waltz Lycee Quadrille etc moving in perfect accord with the time of the music in unison of step and with very pleasing grace and ease Every dance was received by the large audience throughout the auditory with hearty applause It was apparent to every one that Mr Cardinell had taken much pains in the training of his pupils and that he had been peculiarly successful The revolving and ascending pyramid was indeed a beautiful animated tableau The great pyramid on whose successive steps were ranged a large number of young ladies and little girls, according to size was made to revolve by means of concealed and very ingenious machinery—Mr Cardinell's own invention—and at the same time to rise each step out of the one below, like the opening of a telescope The apex on which stood a beautiful little girl, was at first only about eight feet high but when elevated was fully sixteen feet or more As the pyramid rose and fell to marching music the ladies ranged on the lower steps marched inside the several tiers in opposite directions while the ladies at the base went round in the familiar movement of grand right and left" The spectacle was striking and beautiful The pyramid and machinery were got up at an expense of nearly $500 At the close of this part of the exhibition, the pupils and spectators who desired betook themselves to dancing after the manner of general balls, and kept it up till a late hour

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER — The steamship Orizaba from San Francisco arrived at half past 9 o'clock last evening The following is her list of passengers Charles Norvell A W Riddon, Henry Bloome, W D Wilson, M Bane C M Bohr, wife and children Misses Lizzie, Addie and Fannie O'Neil, H Bowen, S P Hensley, E Kane, M S Hillman Dr J H Bie Dr Dubois Col J McCraken, Dr Slovan, Miss M Connel Mrs C E Christhauser and infant J R Crook Abner Allen, Kittie Williams and servant E Townsend and wife, John Connor, N Hockstiller A J Myer, E S Whitcomb T Huntington T D Baker, J Conser, C Taylor, John Harris, J E Booker Misses Louisa, Georgie and Mrs A J Hull, Mrs M Robbins, Mrs S B Hendricks and four children S B Hendricks, Wm Wadhams, L Leitman, Mr Manning, Mrs Lavarra and servant Miss Levy, Mr Walton, Miss J Fisk, Miss C Armstrong, Mrs Tobe Mr Langan, J H McCarty and wife, J Tours John son, W F & Co s messenger, and fifteen in the steerage.

'THE DIFFERENCE' —This is what the Herald says about it: "The Oregonian a short time since [twenty days ago] published a brief extract from a letter of I Friedlander of San Francisco in relation to the commerce of Oregon, the Columbia River Bar, etc, while we yesterday published the entire letter It will be seen that on the point of enterprise we have slightly got the best of our neighbor." And this is what we say If, after twenty days we publish the 'brief remainder of Mr Friedlander's letter, then the matter of 'enterprise' will be just a stand off between us, on that score You see "Time, at last, makes all things even"

THE FRIENDS THAT MOURN —We hear that the mourners in the positively latest absconding case number about three hundred and twenty two Among them are W W Spaulding A C Archbold, and W D Hare of Washington county, who lose the sum of $1 500 and the other three hundred and twenty two mourn for sums of smaller denominations It is the largest train of mourners that we ever knew to follow a departed debtor, though creditors are proverbially singers mourn ful.

PORTLAND LIBRARY —The following new additions have been made to the Portland Library Shakespeare's Works, edited with a scrupulous regard of the text.

The New Testament for English Readers, containing the authorised version, with marginal notes, copious of readings and renderings, marginal references, and a critical and explanatory commentary, by Henry Alford, D D, Dean of Canterbury, 4 vols

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD—Gen Tilton informs us that orders have just been received from head quarters, at New York, to put the road through and have it in working order from Kalama to Olympia by the 1st of November next. The working force has been accordingly increased, and it now numbers near seven hundred men

RAILROAD TROUBLES —Since the late thaw began, the O S N Co has been having some trouble to keep their Carnadee railroad track clear The high bank on the upper side of a deep cut, is what's the matter The freezing weather rendered the earth friable, and since the rains set—stood the dirt slides frequently

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON RAILROAD —Colonel Hooker, general superintendent of the stage company, is in town, and reports the road well stocked from Eugene to Red Bluff The C & O R. R. Co, have about 500 men at work on their road this side of Red Bluff, and the road graded 50 miles this side

JEST THE SAME HERE —The Salem Statesman says "Valentines were flying about almost as thickly yesterday as the day before' So they were here, but the 'day before' was not a good day for valentines The fact is the old Saint was pretty near a dead failure this year

AN OMISSION —At the special session yesterday, the Council appropriated $500 in favor of the Portland Library, but not a word was said about $264 49 for lighting the town clock The Fathers forgot it They however put through all the big "bong" items

RIVER NEWS —The Columbia river is reported clear of ice from Cahio to Wallula, and it is thought the boats might make trips without difficulty The O S, N Co. will have their boats running on the upper Columbia by the 1st of March

AFTER HIM —Sheriff McAuliff of Walla Walla arrived down Thursday evening and returned to Salem yesterday to arrest a man who had been going through a bank at Walla Walla

A LIVERY CORNER —The Fourth Stark street depot of the Oregon Central Railroad is getting to be a rather lively cross roads at the hours of arrival and departure of the trains

COMMON COUNCIL

SPECIAL MEETING FEB 16 18 2

Present—His Honor Mayor Wasserman and Councilmen Burton Caywood Congle Hill Mallett and Story

VACATION OF PORTION O TREET

The Mayor stated the object of the special meeting to be to take into consideration the petition for the vacation of that part of G street lying between the east line of North Front street and the Willamette river, and also to further consider the general appropriation bill

The Auditor read the petition of the Portland Dock and Warehouse Company for such vacation of G street together with other papers showing that the petitioners had complied with the requirements of the statute in the matter of making such application and also, by the direction of the Mayor the statute of reference to the matter

Mr Hill offered the following resolution

Resolved That this Common Council does not deem it expedient to vacate the foot of any street extending to the river in front of the city but this Council will grant leases upon proper application to use such parts of streets upon such conditions as shall seem just and not inconsistent with the use thereof as public streets

Pending the above resolution Messrs Combs Hallock and Besser came in and took their seats

The resolution was adopted—yeas 5 nays 1 Mr Hallock

APPROPRIATION ORDINANCES

On motion, the ordinance making appropriations for the current expenses of the year was taken up

Mr Hill moved to amend by inserting an item for taking meteorological observations and for express connected therewith $500

Mr Hallock raised the point of order that no such amendment could be made the Council having disposed of the question finally by striking out last week] the entire subject matter from the ordinance

The Mayor decided the point of order not well taken and that the motion would be entertained

The yeas were Burton Congle Combs Hill and Story 5 nays Besser Caywood Hallock and Mallett 4

The ordinance was further amended by adding an item to supply deficiencies $1 700 And the vote being taken on the passage of the ordinance it was passed,

LOCAL BREVITIES

The Bulletin is right—the river is rising.

The U S District Court will be in session this morning

The Hillsboro plank road meeting will be held to day at 1 o'clock

Taxes are said to be now due It seems to us they are always due.

A large California letter and paper mail arrived by steamer Orizaba

'Cotton wood whisky' is the latest name for all though we don t exactly see why

The time for planting shade trees has arrived. The shade, however, is not yet needed

The Mayor of Kalama, General Tilton is in town and has nothing with our dignitaries

A rehearsing band at one of our music stores last evening had at one time an immense outside audience

The gray-bearded one of the Bulletin wants us to refer him to our barber It's no use—he don't shave on tick

The stockholders of the Good Templars Hall Association will hold a special meeting next Wednesday evening

"Water hauls," according to a contemporary, were the only arrests made by the police yesterday —no blame attached to the police

Daily prayer meetings are still held in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association in Ladd s building, on the corner of First and Stark streets

A silly report was started by a sally fellow yesterday that the Idaho had gone down The report, however collapsed on account of the weakness that was innate (in it) Oh!

The Dramatic Chronicle thinks the editor of the Statesman is liable to get—metaphorically—a 'spanking from the New North west and says 'Samuel is simply rehearsing for a screaming farce.

THE REASON WHY

The following communication sufficiently explains itself Perhaps we ought to say that our item of yesterday morning was written not upon the authority of Capt Ankeny, but upon the statement of other parties who may after all have known nothing about the matter, except upon hearsay

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I notice in the daily papers an item stating that the reason for tearing down the walls of Capt Ankeny's market building was in consequence partly of a mistake in the architecture of the front not discovered till the workmen were ready to begin upon the second story and partly because the winter's frost had bulged the walls rendering them insecure Having designed the front above mentioned, and considering the above notices reflecting upon me somewhat, I here state that there has not been any mistake in the design and if said design is carried out by a competent superintendent it will make one of the most substantial and permanent buildings in the city Capt Ankeny is just liable in taking down and moving his building, but I claim that he has no right to cast any reflect on upon the designer of the building because he or his superintending architect has neglected to put in a proper and secure foundation to the building

Political Issues in Oregon.

From the Salem Statesman.

The political issues of our State need no discussion. They are as old as the hills, and our first duty is to rout the pelf-seekers from the Pacific Coast, for facts grow more numerous and conclusive as the days for their exhibition are shortened.

The great question in 1872 relates entirely to State matters and State interests. As we can see no reason to present to leave the broader field of national politics to consider what are the needs of Oregon within herself. Look back through the whole course of legislation in our State, from 1860 until 1870, and let us consider if we need any more honest legislators than we had then. During all that time there was not a job put up, nor an act passed at the party's expense. Much of the time, too, Republicans were in overwhelming majority, so that the Democratic opposition amounted to a nonentity—possessed no influence, and was powerless to do or resist. The Republican party was omnipotent, and yet it will stand to its credit for all time that the power was not prostituted for personal aggrandizement.

During the years of Republican rule, we did not perhaps enjoy perfection, but we certainly did not suffer under actual abuses, and the whole decade from 1860 to 1870 being summed up, we invite a comparison with the record made by Democracy in 1871 alone, not denying that it would have made as complete a record in 1868, if there had been no Republican Governor standing in the way.

1870 was a banner year for Democracy, for it carried the general election by a scratch, and gained a majority of the Legislature, and made short work of opposition by turning out as many Republican members of each house as was necessary to make their work easy and plain. Then we had the Litigant Act, with its legalized stealings, The Canal and Locks bill, which paid party favorites a premium of $75,000 over what the People's Transportation Company was ready to contract for, which compelled that corporation to sell out to Ben. Holladay, and so gave him the opportunity to monopolize all the transportation of the best portion of our State. That last result was entirely due to Democratic legislation, and the people are fully aware of it.

Then came the Swamp Land Act, which was a deliberate and premeditated swindle because the bill as originally introduced was unexceptionable and was got up in accordance with the land laws of the United States, making provision for the appointment of a Swamp Land Commission who should ascertain the amount of such lands, and providing that they should be surveyed and title acquired from the United States, and after that should be accomplished the lands were to be sold to the highest bidder above a price fixed as a basis, and if not reclaimed within ten years they were to revert back to the State. The original bill was sound, just, politic. The original framer of it was an honest man and desired to protect the interests of the State, but his work was entirely thrown aside by a Democratic Senate Committee which smelt out a speculation; every section was stricken out and a bill invented in the interest of a land-grabbing Ring which framed a law in the interest of speculators and pushed it through without argument and completed as great a political corruption as the State gave opportunity to invent.

Then look at the Portland Metropolitan Police Act which, on mere pretense, took away the right of self-government in a great measure from that city, to give the leading patronage afforded by its municipal government into the hands of political favorites? That was an act of cool and deliberate partisanship, which unblushingly stares the public out of countenance; a piece of deformity and corruption which sets a precedent for the placing of every town in our State under the grinding heel of any party holding power.

What single act of a disinterested public nature did the last Legislature pass? Did it reform the school laws? Did it economize the revenue? No. It ignored schools, as they don't teach Democracy. It did what successive Republican Legislatures had refused to do, ignored the Constitution and added at least $5,000 per annum to the salaries of State officers. That last forms another count in our indictment against the Democracy.

Do we need any more of this legislation? But Democracy has sins of omission as well ted the Constitution to maintain its hold on power. It refused—deliberately refused—to correct the apportionment as ordered by the Constitution, to conform to the United States census returns of 1870, and by that means 15,000 people living in Republican counties will not be represented in the next Legislature. What does Oregon need? Is it a State government dishonest, corrupt, aggrandizing power for a party, and setting an example for future misconduct of all parties, or a popular government for the people?

We challenge a comparison with the above summary, which is incomplete, and you can count in every defalcation or record of mismanagement you choose, and Republicanism will shine by contrast. The Governorship of Woods with the State Prison managed by Major Berry, will compare favorably with the tricky and dishonest demagogism of Grover and the known rascality of his pet ruffian, Bill Watkinds.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY EVENING, Feb. 16, 1872.

Gold in New York, 11[illegible].

Portland legal tender quoted as 90c buying and selling.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15—Evening.—Wheat in Liverpool, 10s 1d. Commercials are selling here at 90c, buying 91c.

Exchange on San Francisco is 1/2 to 1/4 per cent premium in New York, 1/4 per cent from Telegraphic transfers. Sterling, 10[illegible]c per cent.

The bark Shooting Star, Capt. Whitney, left Westport Feb. 14th for orders further down the river, where she will finish taking cargo.

The bark Storm King made a quick passage up, she having only been four days from Port Discovery. It was supposed she was to go to San Francisco to be docked, but was ordered to Portland on the 14th inst.

The bark Hope is due at San Francisco to-day.

The bark Hesperus is now discharging at Kelly, Scott & Co.'s wharf, San Francisco.

The steamboats will resume trips on the Upper Columbia, from Celilo to Wallula, March 1st. It is reported that a railroad from the river to Boise City, Idaho, and that steamboats will make regular trips up and down.

From an Albany exchange we learn that the supply of country Cured Meats is large, with prices at retail from stores for Hams, 16[illegible] cents a pound and Bacon 14 cents. Those prices would indicate that Cured Meats in lots at that city could be purchased at low rates.

The North Pacific Railroad Company have given notice to out-fitters that on and after the 15th of November this year.

Would it not be advisable at the meeting of directors or officers of the O. S. N. Company, now that the navigation of the Columbia is again resumed, to see if they cannot adopt such a course, by reducing rates on goods so far as they carry them, as will restore to us the legitimate trade with such points as we have lost by cheaper freights via the State of Nevada from San Francisco? That increase of population last year, and the probable increase during the present in the counties of Baker and Grant in Eastern Oregon, gives another incentive for San Francisco merchants to draw thither the trade of certain localities heretofore making purchases here, and to counteract that influence the O. S. N. Company's officers should be keenly alive to the interests of our city, as well as their own, and help our merchants to retain the trade now enjoyed. The high tariff on the Columbia river has been the greatest drawback with which our city has had to contend in retaining the trade with remote sections east of the Cascades, and will result, unless a better spirit of enterprise and a keen appreciation that the end will justify the means employed, in our losing much of the trade enjoyed last year. If the directors of the O. S. N. Company would take the trouble to inform themselves they would be astonished at the amount of dissatisfaction existing in Grant, Baker and other counties east of the Cascades regarding the high rates of tariff exacted on the Columbia river, and the very generally expressed intention on the part of some of the merchants heretofore confining all their trade with us to make their purchases in San Francisco and ship them by rail to Winnemucca in Nevada, and thence by team to place of business. The California Steam Navigation Company pursued the high tariff principle for several years after its organization, but upon consultation with some of the leading merchants of San Francisco reduced rates, and the result was better than the most sanguine friend of low tariffs anticipated—the increased population in the valleys along the rivers resulting in a large increase in the carrying trade for both passengers and merchandise. Why cannot the same spirit govern here as in the California Steam Navigation Co.'s management several years ago? It is flanked that it adopted the result will be far more advantageous to the O. S. N. Co. than resulted to the C. S. N. Co. when rates were reduced, besides retaining trade here.

The benefits derivable from insuring, merchandise, vessels, buildings, household goods, personal effects, etc., from total or partial loss or general average has been more fully exemplified during the past year than any previous year in the history of the United States. Although the conflagration that laid Chicago in ashes caused the suspension of many Fire Insurance Companies, yet the amounts received from the Companies that withstood the heavy blaze, were the same—[illegible] dences of the great benefits that are reaped by those who insure. Many instances have occurred where parties have been saved from losing all their worldly possessions by being insured and in this way have paid those who extended credit to them. In our own State more particularly in the interior—the habit of taking chances too prevalent, and in business circles it is being agitated whether it is safe or right to extend credit to country merchants who do not keep their goods covered by insurance. This is a question that is of the utmost importance to all in business and should be freely discussed. From all we can learn the principles regulating business elsewhere should be inaugurated here, viz: every firm indebted to another firm, [illegible] amount of any moment, should take out a fire policy for the benefit of the firm transferring said policy to the firm indebted to, until the obligation is cancelled. This is the only true and safe way in which business can be carried on satisfactorily, aside from refusing to credit too indiscriminately. By insuring, losses sustained are divided among the many and are not felt by any one in particular, but where no insurance is effected the loss falls on one individual or firm, and in many cases is seriously felt. A bank giving credit does not do a safe or sound banking business unless requiring a fire policy to be taken out for it by the firm or party granted credit, unless collaterals of another nature are given, and even then it is desirable to have a policy taken out for the benefit of the bank.
